Great job.

These seem to be the right user stories for the point in development you're at.

It's important to get something working on the server. Otherwise, it's hard to be sure that future development will work.

Your work looks good. I'd like to see features for logging in and managing users and passwords. These features are harder than they seem.

The retrospective document wasn't in the release zip. It was uploaded a day late. It is mostly appropriate, but there is a half-finished sentence beginning, "We plan ..." in it.
